Illegal Immigrations from Punjab - A Human Tragedy

The Guest Speaker for the club meeting on 11th May 2007 was Ms. Vijaya Pushkarna, who was introduced by PP Pallav Mukherjee as Special Correspondent, The Week, having started her career in journalism 30 years ago when she had joined Indian Express.

Ms. Vijaya Pushkarna addresses the Rotarians to explain the human tragedy of illegal immigrations

Vote of thanks by Rtn. Arjan Singh, who presents a memento to Ms. Vijaya Pushkarna

Across the heartland of Punjab's Doaba region, comprising Jalandhar, Hoshiarpur, Kapurthala and Nawanshahr, the dalits have flourished economically by making use of the illegal immigration racket. They saw in it an escape route from an oppressive caste regime and agrarian system. In rural Hoshiarpur and Jalandhar, for instance, the bungalows of the NRIs are eye-catching. These big houses are empty for most of the year. But once or twice every year, the NRIs visit their homes, driving up in their latest model cars, with flashy cell phones.

Foreign countries need skilled labour. But the successive state governments failed to exploit this opportunity by improving the training facilities in Punjab, Neither did the governments increase the job opportunities at home. In Canada, there were great openings for dairy farm professionals. The government did nothing to help those wishing to migrate there. So, the illegal route is the only option before them.

The NRI status is significant achievement for the Punjabis. While at home they earn as labourers in the agricultural fields Rs 80 a day, in the US, they earn upto Rs 1 lakh a month. The fact is that there is dignity for every job. The youth are ready to pay any price for that.

With as many as 9,000 Punjabis deported in the last five years, the state is experiencing the heat now. Newly elected Chief Minister Parkash Singh Badal has promised a crackdown and announced the setting up of a special cell under an Additional DGP to take on the illegal immigration racket. However, it remains to be seen as how far Badal can move ahead. During his previous regime (1997-2002), two ministers were in the dock for alleged human trafficking under the guise of official foreign tours.

There are more than 2,500 cases registered against travel agents in the state.

The latest is the sensational case of BJP MP Babubhai Katara from Gujerat, who was caught at the Indira Gandhi Airport, boarding a flight to Toronto along with Paramjeet Kaur from Talli village who was posing as his wife and 14-year-old Amarjeet Singh from Jalalpur, who was impersonating his son. They managed this deal through a "travel agent" called Santu who has disappeared from his village. The families of Paramjeet and Amarjeet are in Delhi, trying to secure their bail. In Salempur Santu's mother Tarshada is alone, suffering from a bout of high-blood pressure. "We disinherited Santu two years ago and don't know where he is". It was only when the Delhi Police came to our house that we learnt about his activities," she said.

The recent hullabaloo and the imminent police crackdown on travel agents have not changed one thing in the villages of Talli, Jalalpur and Salempur. Everyone harbours a wish to go abroad, whatever the cost. They are willing to sell their jewellery, their property, or do anything to get themselves to the foreign land.

Unemployment, rising prices and the drudgery of tilling depleted landholdings. Everyone who is left in the village wants to go abroad. The travel agents come door-to-door telling their prospective clients that the paperwork will be done for a price within a couple of days.

Punjab's flourishing immigration racket reflects a deeper socio-economic phenomenon where people are willing to cross multiple borders, hide in ships as stowaways, impersonate, apply for asylum or exhaust an entire life's savings to get a passage abroad. Every major immigration and human trafficking scandal, like the Malta boat tragedy, the Daler Mehndi case, the ICCR case and now the MP immigration scam, exposes the lengths to which the enterprising Punjabi can go to leave Indian shores.
